DETAILED ACTION

1. Applicant's response to the Office Action mailed March 29, 2001 in Paper No. 11 on October 3, 2001 is acknowledged. It is noted that applicant filed a substitute declaration on October 3, 2001 in Paper No. 12.
2. Claims 80, 95, 109, 121, 126 and 131 have been canceled. Claims 64, 66, 67, 69, 72, 73, 75, 76, 78, 79, 81-83, 85-87, 89-92, 94, 97-106, 108, 113-116, 119, 120, 125, 130 and 135 have been amended. Claims 64-79, 81-94, 96-108, 110-120, 122-125, 127-130, 132-135 are pending.
3. The following grounds of rejection are or remain applicable :

Claim Rejections - 35 U.S.C. § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention

Art Unit: 1653

Claims 64-79, 81-94, 96-108, 110-120, 122-125, 127-130, 132-135 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, because the specification while being enabling for a synthetic nucleic acid encoding a protein, does not reasonably provide enablement for the any fragment thereof or portion thereof. There are many factors to be considered when determining whether there is sufficient evidence to support a determination that a disclosure does not satisfy the enablement requirement and whether any necessary experimentation is undue. These factors include, but are not limited to:

I. Quantity of Experimentation Necessary:

The claimed invention is directed to a synthetic nucleic acid sequence which encodes a protein or a fragment of the claimed protein. The claims do not recite any functional limitation or specific sequence for the claimed nucleic acid or protein. Further, the specification does not adequately describe or exemplify "fragments thereof" in association with the claimed invention. Therefore, as the specification lacks guidance as to special features of the claimed fragment such as size, function and no direction is provided as to the claimed portion thereof one of skill in the art would not be able to practice the claimed invention commensurate in scope with the claims. To examine every fragment to determine which one had activity would require undue experimentation.

Art Unit: 1653

The specification does not disclose one reasonable method for making and using the claimed invention that bears a reasonable correlation to the entire scope of the claim.

III. Presence or absence of working examples:

The working examples provided do not demonstrate the claimed fragments in association with the claimed invention.

IV. Nature of the Invention:

The nature of the invention is a synthetic nucleic acid sequence that encodes a protein or fragment thereof or portion thereof. However, the specification does not provide sufficient guidance/direction to enable the full scope of the claimed invention as the claimed fragment is not described by size, length or biological activity.

V. State of the prior art and Relative skill of those in the art:

As the prior art is silent on the claimed sequences a high level of skill was required at the time the application was filed.

VI. Predictability or unpredictability of the art:

Since very little is known in the prior art about the nature of the invention renders the art

Art Unit: 1653

VII. Breadth of the claims:

The breadth of the claims are very broad and encompass an unspecified amount of fragments which are not adequately described or demonstrated in the specification.

Thus, for all these reasons, the specification is not considered to be enabling for one skilled in the art to make and use the claimed invention

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

4. Claims 64-79, 81-94, 96-108, 110-120, 122-125, 127-130, 132-135 are pending are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 64 and the dependent claims hereto remain indefinite because the claims do not recite a specific sequence in reciting for example "150 codons" (see also claims 69, 73, 81, 85, 89,

97, 100, 102, 112, 114, 116, 118, 122, 125, 127, 129, 132, 135

Art Unit: 1653

5. Applicant's response filed October 3, 2001 has been fully considered. Note that the rejections under 35 U.S.C. 112, first and second paragraph remains. Regarding the rejection under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, this ground of rejection was necessitated by the amendments to the claims. With regard to the rejection under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, the rejection over all claims remain because the claims do not recite a specific sequence yet refer to certain numbers of codons or amino acid residues. The response at page 15 argues that the claims have been amended to clarify that the stretch of replaced codons correlates to the sequence of the recited protein. However, this argument is not convincing as the claims do not recite a specific sequence for the claimed protein either. Applicant need to provide the sequence identifiers in the claims that corresponds to the recited amino acid residues or codons. Thus, the rejection has been maintained.

Conclusion

6. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS from the mailing date of this action, then the shortened statutory period will apply.

Art Unit: 1653

will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.

7. No claims are allowable.
